

Mercury Insurance Ranks High with Auto Insurance Customers

The auto insurance marketplace is extremely competitive, with many insurers offering low rates and multiple discounts. So, who better for in-market insurance shoppers to look to for recommendations than actual customers?

Auto insurance customers have spoken and have rated Mercury Insurance as one of the top five U.S. auto insurers for 2017. Insure.com recently surveyed more than 3,700 U.S. insurance customers on the criteria of “customer service,” “claims handling,” “pricing,” “plans to renew current policy” and “would recommend the insurer” to generate this list.

“Mercury continually strives to provide exceptional service to our customers and we’re committed to earning their trust every day,” said Mercury Insurance CEO and President Gabriel Tirador. “We understand they have many companies from which to choose, which makes this recognition even more special.”

Mercury has been dedicated to protecting its customers, their families and property ever since opening its doors in 1962. It’s a responsibility we take very seriously and we’re committed to providing the best service and protection at the lowest possible rate to everyone we insure.
